I will not despise the path before me
I will not grow weary in the wait
I will keep my eyes fixed on You only
I'll be grateful for every breath I take

God of every moment, guiding me through every day
I will stop looking for the mountain top and taste Your daily bread
God of every moment, walking with me from the start
The patient work of God is slowly opening my heart
The patient work of God is slowly opening my heart to life

You will not abandon me in sorrow
You are always faithful, always close
You are never worried for tomorrow
And your steadfast love is my only hope

God of every moment, guiding me through every day
I will stop looking for the mountain top and taste Your daily bread
God of every moment, walking with me from the start
The patient work of God is slowly opening my heart
The patient work of God is slowly opening my heart to life

Thank You, for every breath I take
Thank You, for Your daily bread
Thank You, for Your patient work
Thank You, thank You

God of every moment, guiding me through every day
I will stop looking for the mountain top and taste Your daily bread
God of every moment, walking with me from the start
The patient work of God is slowly opening my heart

The patient work of God is slowly opening my heart to life
I'll let the patient work of God continue opening my heart to life
