

WHEN YOU COME

SAMUEL LANE, BRENTON BROWN

Wash me, cleanse me, from a life of brokenness
Create here, a pure heart, full of love and righteousness
Love and righteousness

When you come, like an avalanche of grace
When you come, there is freedom in this place
When you come, no-one ever stays the same, when you come

Cast me not away, from your presence oh my Lord
I hope I'm not too late, for this holy move of God
This holy move of God

When you come, like an avalanche of grace
When you come, there is freedom in this place
When you come, no-one ever stays the same, when you come
When you come, all of Heaven opens way
When you come, all the angels sing your praise
When you come, Jesus everything is changed, when you come

You will always come, like the rising sun
Like the rising sun, you will always come
You will always come, breaking through the night
Lighting up the sky, you will always come
You will always come

When you come, all of Heaven opens way
When you come, all the angels sing your praise
When you come, Jesus everything is changed
When You come
